

MONDAY MORNING LEADERSHIP...

Chicken Soup for Managers and Supervisors

A Changing Economy will require EXCELLENCE IN LEADERSHIP

Monday Morning Leadership is a best seller by well-known business author David Cottrell.

This three hour session will enhance the leadership skills of anyone in or aspiring to be in a managerial role. Even today's strongest leaders must refocus on the qualities that helped them earn a spot at the decision table. All leaders will tell you a key to their success was having a great mentor and the lessons learned from him/her. It highlights eight mentoring methods to becoming a better leader.

Session I & II

Mentoring methods to become a better leader.

- Are you a driver or passenger?
- Identify and keeping the "main" thing
- The best leaders must escape from management land
- Keeping focused on the "do right" rule
- Hiring tough to fire easy
- Choosing between doing less or working faster
- Recognition buckets and dippers
- The need to remain in the learning zone

This is an interactive session with each participant sharing examples and best practices of successful leadership qualities.

Executing Your Plan Luncheon

Who should attend: Anyone who needs help setting goals, sticking to their goal, achieving their goals.

What will I learn: A simple formula Be-Do-Have may be the key that unlocks your potential. Through an interactive process you will select your top goals. You will build an action plan to achieve your goals, and you will review your mindset to make changes required for you to be successful and achieve your goals. - By Bill Eveleth, Your CFO Resource Center
