Call for Artists Announced for CUBED Luminous Digital Art Event in Downtown Pensacola

Pensacola Museum of Art and artists Evan Levin and Ashton Howard, along with the Pensacola Foo Foo Festival, invite artist proposals for digital art festival Nov. 8-11—Deadline is 10/13

PENSACOLA, Fla. (Sept. 27, 2018) — The Pensacola Museum of Art, University of West Florida Historic Trust and ACRE TV Artist-Made-Tele-Vision have released an open call for artists for the second CUBED live public art event Nov. 8-11 as part of Pensacola Foo Foo Festival. CUBED Luminous is a four-day, four-night digital art festival featuring four 8x8 ft. cubes with 16 laser projectors and a gigantic 18 ft. LED Mega-Cube. Artists may submit up to three silent digital works including video shorts, short animations, animated GIFs, split depth GIFs, perfect loops, cinemagraphs and digital stills online at www.pensacolamuseum.org. The deadline for artist submissions is midnight on Oct. 13, 2018 and there is no charge for submissions.

CUBED Luminous will take over the University of West Florida Historic Trust Museum Plaza in downtown Pensacola during the closing weekend of Foo Foo Festival Nov. 8-11. Juried artists' works will run intermittently throughout the festival on the 18 ft. tall Mega-Cube and the 8x8 ft. projection cubes. This year's festival is free and open to all ages and will also feature live music and performances, interactive cube painting, food trucks and a Makers City Marketplace with Bare Hand Collective.
