BECK PARTNERS RELEASES ANNUAL PUBLICATION, INSIGHT

Pensacola, FL – March 21st: Beck Partners, a regional commercial real estate and insurance firm, announced the release of their third annual publication of Insight.

“Since 1981, top-level executives and business professionals throughout Northwest Florida have relied on us to provide relevant market intelligence and advice. Over the years, the mediums we’ve used to convey this information have changed, but the expertise has remained best in class,” states Justin A. Beck, CEO of Beck Partners. “We are very excited to bring our clients, partners and communities the business resources they need.”

It provides in-depth resources on important developments and news locally, regionally and nationally. You will find updates on the trends that are changing the way we live and do business. From picking the right lease for you to using your budget as a roadmap to best sales practice to how to prevent cyber-attacks, this magazine has the insight you need in the modern-day business world.

Community leaders like Clark Partington, Warren Averett, Sacred Heart, the Greater Pensacola Chamber and the Studer Community Institute are a few that contributed to this magazine to make it a well-rounded read.

This publication benefits, owners, investors, business professionals and entrepreneurs in gaining knowledge on little-known facts that can tremendously affect the way people operate and produce results. Hear stories of true entrepreneurship, dive into how to market yourself, get the real story on how some of the biggest developments came about and much more.

“There is such wealth of knowledge within our walls. We feel it is our duty to share that with the people that work and play in our markets,” states Maggie Whittemore, Marketing Manager of Beck Partners. “The goal of this annual magazine is to connect people to the right information and help protect what is most valuable to them. Enjoy the read.”
