

LandrumHR Names Kara Bloomberg as Chief Operating Officer

Pensacola, FL – January 14, 2018 – LandrumHR, a PEO and full-service HR outsourcing company, announced Kara Bloomberg has been appointed Chief Operating Officer of LandrumHR.

“Under Kara’s leadership, we have reinvigorated our client service efforts and taken a fresh look at operations. We are now better prepared to deliver unprecedented service and human resources solutions to our clients,” said Britt Landrum, III, CEO of LandrumHR.

Effective immediately, Bloomberg will assume responsibility for leading the overall strategy and operations for LandrumHR. In this role, she will direct the operations of the company and be responsible for growth strategies as the company expands its operations nationwide.

“I am excited and grateful to be positioning LandrumHR for the future, as we leverage our knowledge and experience in human resources for strategic growth. “We strive to make the business of people easier for all of our clients every single day. We are expanding our footprint and our services to have a greater impact for our clients,” said Bloomberg. “I am honored to work with such a bright and talented team.”

Prior to this appointment, Bloomberg was the Vice President of Operations and managed benefit options for LandrumHR clients, strategic planning, progress and performance, and process adjustments to ensure a great client experience.

Bloomberg joined LandrumHR in 2018 with a strong background in building relationships, strategic planning, business development, benefits administration, account management, HR consulting, and human resources information systems (HRIS).
